Today's Bank may return debits submitted for payment (including but not limited to checks, in-person withdrawals, drafts, ACH debits or other electronic debits/charges) against the checking account if the amount of the debit exceeds the funds available in the checking account. Each time the bank is presented with a debit that exceeds available funds, the bank will assess either an Overdraft Fee or Returned Item Fee in the amount shown on Today's Bank current Common Features (Limit and Fees) for the action taken. If returned, the entity or person that submitted the debit may re-submit the debit, or a replacement debit, to Today's Bank even if the bank has already returned the prior debit for insufficient funds in the checking account. If funds are not available at the time of re-submission, Today's Bank will again assess either an Overdraft Fee or Returned Item Fee. Thus, you may be charged multiple Returned Item fees and/or an NSF Fee in connection with a single debit that has been returned for insufficient funds multiple times.
